

Statement

JG Pears operates two animal rendering facilities producing pet food intermediates, fats and soil improvers for UK and European markets. Steam and electricity to the Low Marnham rendering facility is provided through a new renewable energy combined heat and power (CHP) plant.

JG Pears recognise that concern for the environment must be a fundamental and integral part of our business and aim to minimise the effect of our operations on the local and global environment whilst pursuing our commercial goals. We are committed to conducting our business whilst protecting the environment and respecting the principles of sustainable development.

It is our policy to:

- Encourage a positive environmental culture through strong leadership from management and supervision, workforce involvement, personal responsibility and a spirit of openness and co-operation
- Ensure that employees and contractors are trained and competent to meet the JG Pears environmental requirements
- Fulfill all compliance obligations and JG Pears policies
- Ensure that all risks associated with our operations are identified and controlled and that personnel working on our sites manage these risks to ensure a safe, healthy working environment and the prevention of pollution
- Implement an environmental management system covering all processing activities and CHP plant at the company's Low Marnham operations.
- Take action to address risk and opportunities and significant environmental aspects including, but not limited to, Best Available Techniques for odour abatement and odour control, Flue gas desulphurisation, NOX abatement and effluent quality.
- Work with those industrial and commercial partners who demonstrate a commitment to environmental management equal to our own
- Embrace the principles of the circular economy through use of sustainable fuels in power generation and recovery of waste materials for land application
- Reduce reliance on fossil fuels and export excess renewable electrical power to the National Grid
- To reduce and minimise emissions and waste from our activities and their environmental effects
- Strive to achieve continual improvement to enhance our environmental performance by setting measurable environmental objectives and reviewing performance through data analysis and audits

This Environmental Policy will be reviewed regularly, considering changing legislation and feedback received.

I, as Managing Director, commit the Company to implement this policy

Signed:

Jeff Pears (Managing Director)
